Overview

Organizations need to achieve sustainability targets, but lack the necessary skills and knowledge for delivering those goals. LearnSy is a B2B platform for sustainability learning that is designed to work as a driver for organizations sustainability journey. Currently our learning catalogue includes over 100 learning opportunities and is constantly growing.

ESG aligned learning

We categorize a global selection of free and paid learning opportunities aligned with ESG pillars, empowering employees with enhanced skills that drive innovation and positive societal contributions.

Personalized learning paths

We utilize large language models to automate the creation of personalized and structured learning paths that align with organizations sustainability goals and employees job roles.

Transparent progress

We track employee L&D aligned with ESG pillars so that organizations can steer and monitor how sustainability benefits are attained from learning activities.

About LearnSy

LearnSy is the only platform of learning that supports organizations to meet their sustainability targets by embedding sustainability to individual employees learning paths.

Our learning catalogue is a collection from formal and informal education providers worldwide, including MOOCs, courses, trainings, events, and webinars, all focused on sustainability.
